

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear misuse of the public airwaves.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But the only interest served here is the promotion of the political agenda of the company's owners.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
